GIBRALTAR TEAM IN MALTA

A team from the Gibraltar Museum composed of Professor Clive Finlayson and Drs Darren Fa and Geraldine Finlayson, will be in Malta next week at the invitation of the Superintendence of Heritage of the Government of Malta. The team have been invited on account of their expertise in prehistoric archaeology and the work they have been carrying out in Gibraltar.

Part of the visit will be dedicated to visiting an archaeological excavation in progress in a cave site on the island of Gozo where the team will advise on the work being carried out. Part of the visit will be devoted to discussing a possible long-term collaborative project in which the "Gibraltar model", which has been successfully applied to understanding the Rock as a prehistoric landscape, may be applied to the Maltese Islands.
