Waterport Terraces – Service Charges

If the GSLP's definition of "violent outburst by the Government" is the Government unmasking their false and distorted statements, then they should prepare for more "violent outbursts".

The latest statement by the GSLP represents the third different version of what it claims to have said or meant in relation to service charges. It continues to mislead public opinion by wrongly suggesting that Government could, if it wanted to, not issue service charge invoices in those cases where completions take place before Christmas. This is a requirement.

Furthermore, repeating their views about the regrettable delays, even if they are not the fault of the Government, does not justify or explain the GSLP's false, distorted and ill informed original statement on the matter.
