No: 576/2012

Date: 12th September 2012

Gibraltarpedia continues to gather momentum

The project that is going to make Gibraltar into the world's first Wikipedia city is underway.

Wikipedians are writing up to 20 articles a day about Gibraltar in English, Spanish, Catalan and Finnish. All those interested in photography, maps or Gibraltar's history and heritage, should come along to either of two sessions to be held at the John Mackintosh Hall on Monday 17th September, either at 10.00 am or 6.00pm. The sessions will be presented by Roger Bamkin and John Cummings. John will be staying on the Rock for the next eight weeks to help all those interested contribute to this exciting project.
