Government launches new meteorological data web portal

HM Government of Gibraltar is pleased to launch a new weather data portal as part of the wider Gibraltar Climate Change Programme. The portal provides a 'one stop shop' to access, visualise and manage data from the Gibraltar Meteorological Network that can be accessed online [www.gibmetportal.gi]. The main purpose of the network and the portal is to assemble climate-relevant data. The network consists of 6 sites located around Gibraltar that collect data on wind speed and direction, temperature, rainfall, solar intensity and barometric pressure.

The stations are located at the following sites:

- North Front cemetery
- Bruce's Farm
- The Caleta Hotel
- Rosia Road
- Witham's Road
- Bleak House

The dashboard styling of the portal provides a simple and clear layout with headline information on the front page as well as a dedicated download page with a data analysis section. A weather forecast service is also available that the public is encouraged to use.

Further information on the web portal is available from the Department of the Environment (Tel: 200 50294 Email: info.environment@gibraltar.gov.gi).
