Date: 23rd September 2015

Visit of the Executive Nurse Network to GHA

The UK's Executive Nurse Network was set up 29 years ago for nurses, women in senior roles, and now has an approximate membership of 60.

The group organises study visits abroad and has visited cities in Europe, Unites States and South Africa.

This year they have chosen to visit Gibraltar and Minister for Health will be hosting a welcome reception at the Garrison Library on Thursday 24th September.

A full programme of talks and visits to GHA facilities has also been organised by our Nursing Management Team.

Dr John Cortes said: "Nursing is the backbone of any health service and has been strongly supported by this administration. I am especially pleased to welcome such a high level group of senior nurses to Gibraltar."
